

Bioconductor Award 2023

Certificate

Simone Bell

Simone has been essential on organizing committees over the past several years including the annual Bioconductor conference, EuroBioC conference, and numerous other special events, workshops, and courses like CSAMA. Simone is an unsung hero, making all these events run and operate smoothly from handling bookings, reservations, registration, catering, scheduling, and much more. Her attention to detail and ability to adapt to every scenario allows her to handle any situation that arises with professionalism and grace. Her experience in planning and project coordinating shines in every event.

Simone also is doing an amazing job coordinating activities of the newly formed European Bioconductor Society which facilitates organization and logistics of Bioconductor activities and events across Europe. The Bioconductor organization appreciates Simone's efforts and contributions. Thank you Simone!
